PL-15 MISSILES WERE INTERCEPTED, NEUTRALISED BY ARMED FORCES

Pak used missiles supplied by China: DG Air Operations

SHUBHAJIT ROY
New Delhi, May 12

FOR THE FIRST time since it commenced Operation Sindoor and thwarted most of Pakistan's aerial attacks, India on Monday named China-supplied weapons in the Pakistani arsenal used against the Indian Armed Forces.

Briefing the media, Air Marshal A K Bharti, Director General Air Operations, presented visual evidence of missile remnants. "You can see the pieces of it on the screen," he said, showcasing debris of the PL-15 long range missile that fell inside Indian territory, including a relatively intact rear section recovered from Hoshiarpur, Punjab.

The Armed Forces intercepted and neutralised a range of high-tech foreign weapons used by Pakistan, including Chinese-origin PL-15 air-to-air missiles and Turkish Bayraktar TB3 kamikaze drones.

The naming of China is a first in this round of India-Pakistan hostilities — all these years, New Delhi has closely tracked the expanding Sino-

Pak military ties. Sources said the India-Pakistan ties across domains — political, economic, nuclear and military — have been ongoing for decades, and Beijing has been supplying weapons to Rawalpindi.

Last week, India had only named Turkish drones as being used by Pakistan. But now has publicly named Chinese and Turkish weapons. The PL-15, developed by China's Aviation Industry Corporation (AVIC), is a long-range, radar-guided missile designed to engage high-value air targets at ranges exceeding 200 km. The PL-15 is China's standard active-radar-guided AAM, and it was intended to at least match the performance of the US-made AIM-120 Advanced Medium-Range Air-to-Air Missile (AMRAAM).

Its export version, the PL-15E, is reported to have a maximum range of 145 km and is integrated with Pakistan's JF-17 Block III and J-10CE fighters.

Preventive blackouts in Punjab

PRECAUTIONARY BLACKOUT MEASURES were enforced in Punjab's Amritsar and Hoshiarpur districts on Monday. Electricity has also been switched off in some areas of Jalandhar, officials said.

"As a precautionary measure, lights have been switched off in some areas around Suranasi as there have been reports of drone sightings in the vicinity of Punjab. There is no (total) blackout as of now. There is nothing to worry, as confirmed by armed forces officers. They are on regular vigil as always," Jalandhar Deputy Commissioner Himanshu Aggarwal said in a message at 9:15 pm. An air raid siren was sounded in Amritsar, which lies along the border.

Air services to resume at 32 airports

SWARAJ BAGGONKAR
Mumbai, May 12

FOLLOWING THE MAY 10 ceasefire announcement, the government on Monday lifted the Notice to Airmen (NOTAM) for each of the 32 airports which were shut for civilian use. These airports were to remain shut from May 9 to May 14.

Airports in Jammu, Srinagar, Leh, Jodhpur, Amritsar, Bhubaneswar, Chandigarh, Rajkot and all other affected airports can operate like previously. Each of these Airports Authority of India (AAI)-owned or AAI-controlled airports are Indian Air Force (IAF) bases also.

A blackout was reported in Amritsar on Monday forcing an IndiGo flight from Delhi to head back to its origin. Flight radar 24 showed that the 6E2045 turned back and landed in Delhi. IndiGo did not comment on the matter.

Going by the ticket booking page on the portals, airlines were yet to open bookings for each of these destinations. While Chandigarh, Srinagar and Amritsar had flight connectivity

"We will commence operations on previously closed routes. As services gradually return to normal, there may still be a few days and last-minute adjustments," said IndiGo.

from Monday itself, others like Rajkot, Bhubaneswar (Kullu) had no booking options. "These airports are now fully operational for civil aircraft movements with immediate effect," AAI said in a release.

"Air India is working towards progressively commencing flights to and from Jammu, Srinagar, Leh, Jodhpur, Amritsar, Bhubaneswar, Chandigarh and Rajkot. We are working on bringing operations at these airports back to normal," said an Air India release.

IndiGo, the country's largest carrier, said, "We will progressively commence operations on the previously closed routes. As services gradually return to normal, there may still be a few days and last-minute adjustments."

"Our teams are actively working to resume normal flight operations at these airports," said a statement from SpiceJet.

An estimated 1,000 cancellations in flights has happened since the launch of Operation Sindoor in the early hours on May 7.

VIRAT KOHLI, FORMER INDIAN CRICKET CAPTAIN

Never gave up, but well left

THE UNFORGETTABLE KOHLI ERA: A LEGACY THAT WILL BE REMEMBERED FOREVER

SANDEEP DWIVEDI

WITHIN DAYS OF Rohit Sharma calling time on his Test career, Virat Kohli followed suit and announced his retirement from the longest format. Was he quick to read the room after the abrupt end to Rohit's Test innings? With talk of Shubman Gill's coronation at 23, did he sense palace intrigue and a subtle signal to him? Or was it the case of the 36-year-old father of two and an undisputed batting great no longer having that famous drive to deal with the demons in the head that mess with muscle memory?

Days before the team for the England tour was to be announced, Kohli shared his decision with the world on Instagram: "There's something deeply personal about playing in whites. The quiet grind, the long days, the small moments that no one sees but that stay with you forever. As I step away from this format, it's not easy—but it feels right. I've given it everything I had... I'll always look back at my Test career with a smile."

The post had Frank Sinatra singing his "I did it my way" song in the background, reminding that a career of 123 Tests which brought a little less than 10,000 runs to him might not be totally fulfilling. "Regrets, I've had a few. But then again, too few to mention. I did what I had to do," goes the song's lyrics.

Though, of late, Kohli had been finding it tough to do what he did. In that context, this England tour miss is actually a judicious "well left." It is a grim reminder of the reality of ageing. Kohli still has a gymnast's body and is Bolt between wickets. But the fittest too can get jaded, the driven too slow down, and even Kings call it a day.

Kohli has retired, but hasn't given up. He never does, it's just that every great story has an end. Once he signs up for a cause, he never backs out. That was the original narrative around the Delhi boy when he first lit the headlines as an 18-year-old in his debut first-class season.

It was an incredibly cold December day in 2006 when he landed at the Feroz Shah Kotla (now the Arun Jaitley Stadium) in a Delhi Ranji Trophy jersey hours after his father died. In the dressing room, he broke down but quickly squashed his eyes with water to play a match-saving knock. He left early and lit his father's pyre.

It was after the sun had set on the toughest day of his life that he would tell his elder brother: "I am going to play this game at the highest level and there is nothing that can distract me from doing that." Kohli didn't just play at the highest level but will finish as one of the greatest batsmen in the world.

In 2014, he was in a freefall on the England tour. He thought he had forgotten how to bat and would not get his touch back. He couldn't sleep. Later, he would figure out that he was dealing with depression. Kohli would reach out to Sachin Tendulkar and that would start his rehabilitation. Once he ironed out the flaws, trusted his game, he got back his purpose in life.

Runs would flow, he would get proclaimed as cricket's GOAT, but fame and fortune would bring bigger challenges. It is around the Covid-19 period that Kohli would be "hitting the ball" but going to England would again mean "being someone and dealing with expectations." All his career he had been in a constant fight with odds and winning it. Now, finally, it seems, he had enough.

On that magical April night in 2011, after India's World Cup win at the Wankhede Stadium, Kohli, after carrying Tendulkar in his shoulders on a victory lap, had come up with a memorable quote: "Tendulkar has carried the burden of the nation for 21 years, it was time we carried him," he said.

In years to come, Kohli would go on to do a Tendulkar, be a legend after two decades of high-level batting. Now that it is time to bid him goodbye, carry him on the shoulders, it is for others to do a Kohli.

face existential issues. When the world called him King Kohli, Superman, Chasemaster, he was confused about his own identity. "With your professional identity, somewhere you start losing perspective as a human being," he would articulate. To live up to the hype around him, Kohli would say that he would "take his intensity." The world wanted him to be the scowly Kohli even when he was "in a mood to be sweet."

Even on his return, Kohli would find it tough to meet the staggering standards he had set for himself. From January 2022 to January 2025, he would score just three Test hundreds. None memorable, nor with gravitas. Kohli, the Test batsman, was willing but he wasn't giving up.

Recently during the IPL, he had spoken about how the meaning of cricket had changed for him. "You start with wanting to hit the ball and later, you go through this whole journey of being someone and dealing with expectations. But then finally again, you reach a point... and say I am here to hit the ball," he had said in an RCB podcast.

He seemed to be enjoying "hitting the ball" but going to England would again mean "being someone and dealing with expectations." All his career he had been in a constant fight with odds and winning it. Now, finally, it seems, he had enough.
